The annual weekly tournament of ladies of the Barre Golf club will begin earlier this year, starting the week of May 16. This is due in part to the condition of the greens and also to the fact that the club has a larger enrollment of women.

The body of William A. Steward, the man who was killed Feb. 19 by an accidental fall down the side stairs of the Worthen block after he had leaned against an out-swinging door, was removed from the vault in Elmwood cemetery to South Ryegate for burial last Saturday.

An intruder staged a come-back at the home of Philip L. Ellis, 42 Franklin street, last evening after having given the house a go-by for a month, and although he failed last evening to get into the house he gave Miss Edith Reid, a roomer, a scare as she saw a hand pushing in the screen of her window. Her scream brought another young woman in the house to her side and caused the intruder to vanish with considerable precipitation, so that the police, when called, found no signs. Later some marks of a ladder on the side of the house were found. The intruder was attempted while Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were away from the house and in spite of the fact that the lights were on both upstairs and down. A high bank just back of the house may have given the intruder a chance to see Miss Reid lay a pocketbook, an empty one, by the way, on the dresser near the window, which stirred his thieving instincts to acquire the property. The hand thrust against the screen was father small and considerably grimed with dirt. Miss Reid could not see the face of the person. The Ellis house was broken into a month ago and a small amount of money was stolen from a pocketbook and the gas meter in the cellar was rifled of a small amount.

Mrs. G. Bettini and daughter, Unda, who accompanied Mr. Bettini to Burlington Monday morning, where he underwent an operation at the Mary Fletcher hospital, returned to the city last evening. At the time they took their leave, Mr. Bettini was resting very comfortably. Ottenio Bardosi left this morning for Burlington to visit the sick man.

Many Barre people are planning to motor to Burlington to attend the Vermont-Holy Cross baseball game at Centennial field this afternoon. Both teams represent about the best college teams in the east and so far this season Holy Cross has lost but one game and that to Lehigh university, a team which Vermont has twice defeated. Among the Barre people who will witness the game this afternoon are: Mr. and Mrs. Antoine Burke of Summer street, John Downs of the Barre fire department, Leonard Lander of Washington street, Louis O'Leary of Eastern avenue, George Douglas of Elm street, Winston Brown of Jefferson street, Aubrey Marston of Franklin street and Charles LeClair of Summer street.

To-morrow afternoon at 4:15 o'clock Spaulding high school will play its first home game of the season with Montpelier seminary. Spaulding will probably show a few changes in the line-up from the team which battled against Goddard two weeks ago. Either O'Leary or Calagui will take the mound. Manager Adirighetti of the Spaulding team has been busy during the last few days in making an accurate measurement of the field, and in getting the grounds ready for the opening game. A backstop has been erected about 90 feet behind the catcher and the bleachers which have hitherto been set close to the base-line, hindering the first baseman from taking care of any flies outside of fair territory, is to be moved back so that more freedom will be given the players on the field and so that anyone occupying a bleacher seat will be able to get a complete unobstructed view of the game.

At a joint meeting of the executive and handicap committees of the Meadow Brook Golf club, held last evening, arrangements were made to start the season on Saturday, May 7. The course is in fine condition just now, thanks to the close attention of the club's greenkeeper, Charles Bissett. The handicap committee has arranged quite a number of tournaments for the season and all that is wanted is the weather man to be on his best behavior to make the season full of interest to both male and female members of the club. The match committee, not to be behind the others, is making arrangements for a number of inter-club matches and with the membership still increasing, the members of the club have every reason to be glad at the work of the officials in their behalf, so all out this week end and be on the first tee ready to tee off when club starter John Ellis calls off your name.

BURD Quick-Seating PISTON RINGS

are designed to meet the demand of garages, service stations and mechanics for an efficient piston ring having the quick seating feature of a narrow ring, with the wall tension of a wide ring.

The invention of this entirely new type of piston ring is the greatest advance which has been made in piston ring construction in the past ten years. It won the instant approval of mechanics everywhere.

The outer surface—which comes in contact with the cylinder wall, has a channel .002 of an inch in depth in the center of the face, and raised edges, which lap in quickly, seating perfectly, with a hard glass-like surface, in harmony with the cylinder wall—almost immediately. No slow, laborious "lapping in" is necessary. It "goes to work" at once—adjusts itself quickly to the cylinder wall and perfect seating is obtained in less than one-fifth the time required to seat other piston rings.

The Burd Quick-Seating—is a one-piece, step-joint ring which fits accurately, and is very easy to install.

The channel in the center carries an oil film, which prevents leakage during the process of seating—and insures perfect lubrication. Burd Quick-Seating Rings are installed to fit snugly—the points just meeting—no clearance between the points being necessary. They, therefore, indicate the minimum opening after seating.

They are made in all standard sizes and over-size sizes—for practically every make and model of motor.
